

Grace Rwanda presents...

The Vital Role of Education in Rwanda

Sixteen Years after the Rwandan Genocide

You are invited to an afternoon with speaker Carl Wilkens with an opportunity to purchase Rwandan crafts, teas, coffees and fabrics.

A humanitarian aid worker in Rwanda since 1990, Carl Wilkens was the only American to remain in the country during the 1994 genocide. Each day he braved the deadly streets to bring food, water and medicine to orphans trapped around Kigali.

2 – 5 p.m. Sunday,
June 27, 2010

St. Helen's Church,
3871 Pandora
Street Burnaby

His experiences have been featured in the New York Times, the PBS Frontline documentary "Ghosts of Rwanda," and the National Public Radio documentary "The Few Who Stayed: Defying Genocide."

Now Carl brings his story to Vancouver. Don't miss this once-in-a-lifetime opportunity to hear his amazing account and learn about the vital role of education in Rwanda's healing.

Grace Rwanda is a Langley based non-profit organization founded in 2009 by Elizabeth M. Johnson and Marie Louise Kaligirwa, survivors of the 1994 Rwandan genocide. Grace Rwanda partners with communities in Rwanda to promote self-reliance and reconciliation by providing educational opportunities for children.
